CONSTRUCTION SERVICES GROUP

AON RISK SERVICES

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 2006, 11:40AM TO 12:30PM

WALK AUDITORIUM – RITTER HALL ANNEX

Dan Conway is president of AIG Construction Risk Management and has 18 years of field and home office underwriting experience. He began his career with AIG in 1995 in AIG's Philadelphia office. In 1998, Mr. Conway joined the Construction Risk Management Home Office as divisional vice president and became president of the division in 2004.

Mr. Conway is leading AIG's 2005 initiative, AIG Construction Solutions, as a natural extension of the scope of coverage and services available to contractors and sponsors of wrap-up projects. It is designed to provide seamless coordination of primary casualty lines, builders risk, excess/umbrella, pollution liability; A&E/professional, surety, accident & health, Defense Base Act, foreign voluntary workers compensation, and risk finance to AIG construction risk management clients and prospects.

Prior to AIG, Mr. Conway held various underwriting and management positions with a Pennsylvania regional mutual insurer that specialized in workers compensation.

Mr. Conway holds a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in risk management from Temple Univer-

Danette Jones is a Vice President of Aon Risk Services and responsible for all aspects of marketing and program design for Controlled Insurance Programs for the Western United States. In addition, Ms. Jones oversees and is directly involved in all production, marketing, and client service for several owner and contractor clients. Danette joined the Construction Services Group of Aon Risk Services in June 1996 after two years with Sedgwick James of California.

Danette is a graduate of the University of Georgia where she received her Bachelor of Business Administration degree majoring in Risk Management and Insurance. She has completed her Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) and Associate in Risk Management (ARM) designations.
