FEATURED ACTUARIAL SCIENCE INTERN

Kirk Locker

YEAR:
Senior

Job Description: I performed a number of tasks relating to pension valuations, which included working with client data and also involved making results reasonability checks and benefit calculations that went directly to the client.

MAJOR(S):
Actuarial Science

Pros: What I liked most about my internship was that each day I had to apply my knowledge and experiences in different ways to solve problems. Also, I was able observe a client meeting where high-level pension plan issues were being discussed.

COMPANY:
Towers Perrin's

LOCATION:
Chicago, Illinois

How did I get this job? I met a few people from Towers Perrin's at various Gamma Iota Sigma events and they got in touch with someone from the Chicago office once they became aware that I was interested in working closer to my hometown in the Midwest.

POSITION:

Advice: Get involved with Gamma early and thoroughly. You'll gain valuable experiences that will set you apart both

YEAR: Senior
COMPANY: Towers Perrin's Health and Welfare Department
MAJOR(S): Risk Management and Insur-
LOCATION:

POSITION:
Health and Welfare Intern

Job Description: I worked with a large client in the renewal of its numerous HMO plans in multiple states. I calculated rate changes from year to year and analyzed possible plan design changes and their effect on plan costs. I also created utilization disruption analysis reports and spoke with vendors to retrieve all possible information about plan designs.

Pros: I was treated like a full-time associate and faced the same challenges that I would encounter after graduation.

How did I get this job? I worked on a project in Dr. Drennan's Advanced Topics in Health and Welfare Employee Benefits class with Towers Perrin as the sponsor. The coordinator of the project, became interested in having me as an intern. This opportunity to network was the main reason I obtained this position.

Advice: Get involved with Gamma. Dealing with the struggles of an officer is the best chance to see how the real world works without having to leave Temple. Also, take a professional exam during
