

RISKY BUSINESS

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY, FOX SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND MANAGEMENT, DEPARTMENT OF RISK MANAGEMENT AND INSURANCE

12th SEMI-ANNUAL GAMMA GAMES

Come join your fellow members this Wednesday, September 26th, 2007 in Pearson 45 from 6:00-8:00pm for our signature social event! Contact Chelsea Balerno at cbalerno@gmail.com with questions

YOU BETTER BE GOING. YOU DON'T WANT CHELSEA™ TO BE UPSET, DO YOU? —>

For the latecomers:

Randomly selected teams will compete in a variety of physical activities such as a Herculean tug of war, three-point basketball shoot-out, and many other dizzyingly fun events. This event is always one of the biggest social events every semester. That is to say, if you don't go, you are missing out in every sense of the word. Averaging over 85 members in attendance, Gamma Games is always one of the best ways to have fun and meet people. You can even bring friends if you want.

LAST WARNING: IF YOU CAN GO BUT ELECT NOT TO DO SO, WE WILL SIC CHELSEA™ ON YOU. SHE IS VICIOUS.

TUG, MAN! TUG!!!!

LOOK AT THAT FACE!

DISTINGUISHED GUEST LECTURER

Carmella Capitano

AIG, NY

Temple University Class of 2000

Wednesday September 26, 2007

11:40-12:30pm

Carmella Capitano is the Assistant Vice President in Global Energy of AIG, specifically for the London and LA regions. After spending 4 years working in the Philadelphia region as an underwriter working in the Construction division of the Risk Management Group, Ms. Capitano transferred to the New York region as a referral underwriter in Home Office Department of Construction. Ms. Capitano graduated from the Fox School of Business and Management, majoring in both Finance and Risk Management.

Intern Testimonial: Joe Ross

Joe Ross is a Risk major at the Fox School graduating in December 2008. In the summer of 2007, Joe Ross interned at Mercer in Newport Beach, CA. Risky Business sat down with Joe to ask him about his experience.

RB: How well did you adapt to Newport Beach, being away from your home town?

JR: It was difficult to adjust in terms of being a way from my family and friends, but it was California so there can't be any complaints. The weather was amazing, I was close to the beach, and there were always places to go during the night and on weekends.

RB: How was your internship in general?

JR: The internship provided me with little to complain about. Everyday I had something new given to me to work on. I also had a lot of contact with different people in the business, including Medical carriers and Life and Disability carriers who we marketed coverage to. I sat in on a few carrier and client meetings. Every employee was great, however there was a big age gap between myself and my co-workers.

RB: Did you have a mentor? If so, what were the benefits he or she provided?

JR: At Mercer, there was an intern coordinator in a way, and she was great because she answered every question I had and always gave feedback on what I was doing well and what I could improve on.

RB: Did you feel your RMI classes better prepared you for the internship?

JR: I would have been lost at the beginning of the internship if it wasn't for RMI 205 with Dr. Drennan. A lot of the material covered in the class popped up in the work I was doing on an everyday basis.

Cultural Dinner: Ong's

Tuesday, October 2, 2007

7:00-9:00pm

10th and Race

On Tuesday, October 2nd, Gamma Iota Sigma will be holding a cultural dinner at Ong's in Chinatown (10th & Race). The dinner starts at 7pm. For the low, low cost of $20, you get: all the soda you can drink, your choice of shrimp wonton soup or salad, assorted chinese appetizers, and your choice of the following entrees: chicken and rice, pork chop, mixed vegetables in a garlic sauce, or lo mein (beef, chicken, or vegetables). This is a great opportunity to try some worldly cuisine for a low price.

BRING ALL YOUR FRIENDS! This event is open to everyone; we will essentially be renting out the whole place for this night.

Senior Interview Workshop

Friday, September 28, 2007

4:40-7:10pm

Speakman 114

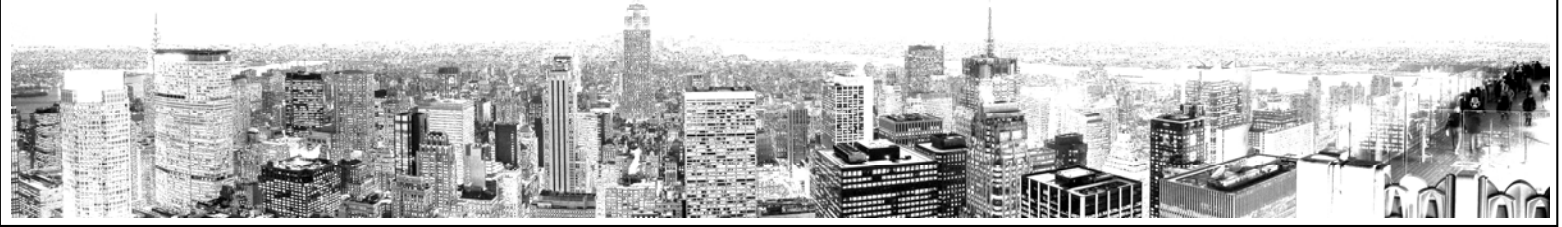

These sessions are held for seniors to for a more focused and specialized workshop. Because recruiters from the risk management and insurance field run the workshops, these sessions are an added value to members because they can learn from current recruiters who are familiar with the risk management and insurance field. All graduating seniors must attend one of these workshops. This week, Carol Gerson from Aon Corporation's Affinity Insurance Services will preside over the workshop. A sign-up sheet will be available on the Gamma Iota Sigma office door (on the 4th floor of Ritter) Please note that this is the last Senior Interview workshop for this semester and that the usual time has been changed.

New York City Corporate Trek Thursday and Friday, October 4-5, 2007

On Thursday, October 4th, 2007, Sigma Chapter will be participating in a two-day Corporate Trek to New York City. On Thursday, a carpool will be leaving Princeton Junction Train Station at 6:45am. Once in New York City, we will first visit ACE and Marsh for presentations and should gain valuable information at both. That same evening we will be hosting an alumni happy hour in NYC at which some representatives from the St. John's Chapter of Gamma Iota Sigma will be in attendance. On Friday, October 5th, 2007 we will be visiting AIG and Willis in the financial district and that should also prove to be an enlightening experience.

If you wish to attend this event or have any questions regarding it, please contact Kevin Johnson: kjohnson05@temple.edu

Risk Professional Society Information Session

Friday, September 28, 2007

11:40-12:30pm

Speakman 113

Upon entrance into the workforce, there are many organizations who seek to continue the professional development of their members. These organizations, Risk Insurance and Management Society (RIMS), Penjerdel Employee Benefit Association (PEBA), and Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU), operate in all spheres of the insurance industry. These spheres include professionals involved in actuarial science, property and casualty insurance, as well as employee benefits. During our member workshop series this semester, we will be hosting a workshop at which representatives from various societies discuss their organization and its goal for our members.
